It is a method of massage that provides relief from muscle pains, treatment of headaches and migraines as well as reduction of nervous and muscle tension, as it activates blood and oxygen circulation in the body and helps to relax it. It combines western and oriental cupping techniques and involves circular friction movements, muscle kneading and massage vibrations, with mainly relaxing pressure, although you can determine this yourself according to your needs. Swedish Massage is ideal for those first encountering massage, for chronic conditions such as arthritis and tendonitis, and for cases of back and neck problems.

At the same time, the use of beneficial essential oils during the treatment offers well-being and rejuvenation to the body while simultaneously improving the mood. The skillful, relaxing massages help the body to eliminate accumulated tension and fatigue, as well as to achieve total relaxation of tired muscles and restore their elasticity. Anti-Stress Massage is designed to be performed all over the body and is ideal for those who either spend long hours at the office or feel a constant pressure on their shoulders.

LOMI LOMI MASSAGE | 45' / 70€

Lomi Lomi Massage is an ancient massage method that first appeared in the Hawaiian Island complex. The ancient form of Lomi Lomi massage combines an endless technique, making extensive use of the forearms as well as the palms and fingers. The upstrokes can be done over a large area of the torso, rhythmically and sweepingly, which is why they can be likened to sea waves. Their purpose is to <<unblock>> the flow of energy to the chakras, leaving the recipients invigorated. Lomi Lomi can stimulate the immune, muscular, lymphatic and nervous systems. With its harmonious wave-like movements, it is a journey to wellness and rejuvenation.

The practitioner applies pressure to various areas of the body surface to treat common diseases, conditions and to correct imbalances in the body. Reflexology is a method of alternative medicine based on the application of specific pressures and massages on the foot and the back of the feet. Due to the fact that there are 7,200 nerve endings in the feet, proponents of this method claim that these specialized pressures cause a <<reflex>> stimulus to each point and organ of the body individually, resulting in the stimulation of the body's nervous and defense systems, which can activate or mobilize the energy flowing through the body to reach the area that needs treatment. Pressure exercise provides deep relaxation, relieves certain ailments and prevents many pathological conditions.
